The Supreme Judiciary.

(From the S. F. Examiner.)

When the people of San Francisco were being greatly exercised over the local and political issues of the day, and were busily engaged in building up and tearing down reputations for local office, the cooler headed men of the interior of the State were turning their attention to the Judiciary as the final arbiters of the rights of the people. In this they proved that their heads were eminently "level," and by the nomination of Hon. S. B. McKee

to the Supreme Court have done good work. We invite the attention of our readers to the following pertinent remarks in reference to this gentleman from the San Diego World of the 18th of August.

But before presenting these remarks

we can affirm that we conscientiously indorse all that has been so handsomely and forcibly said of Judge McKee. His long service on the bench, his unblemished integrity, his purity in private life, and his legal attainments, all point toward his being the successor of any of the most distinguished occupants of the Supreme Bench at the present or any former time.

In addition to all this he is one of the favorite champions of the Democratic principles in their larger and better sense, and we predict for him a successful canvass against the worthy opposition of Judge McKee. Here is what the World says:

"The Bar of California has an exceptional reputation for ability. We demand that the Democratic State

Judicial Convention shall put in nomi-

ination for the Supreme Bench a gentleman who will really represent the Intellect of the Bar, and who will,

at the same time, be dignified by the position by unquestioned probity and character."

One man in California at the moment eminently embodies these qualities. The World nominates for this position Judge S. B. McKee.

Judge McKee came to California in the Fall of 1853. He had received a very thorough education in the University of Georgia. He settled in Oakland, and in 1855 was elected Judge of the County Court of Alameda County.

In 1858 he was promoted by the people to be Judge of the Third Judicial District.

How this admirable gentleman approved himself to the popular appreciation, which of course in such a position is guided mainly by the Bar,

is best shown by the signal competence paid him by the people in 1861.

At that time the district was composed of Alameda, Santa Clara, Contra Costa, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties. The odds against him were great, counting, by the tall post, fully twenty-three hundred to one. But about in the end, following only the people's sense of his eminent fitness for the position, and so strong was their desire to enjoy the benefit of his judicial and enlightened rulings, that he carried his District by two hundred and fifty majority.

"The World nominates for this position. He is graceful, courteous and characterized by a rare degree of high breeding. His facile and eloquent manner, his ready apprehension of the points of a case amounts to an instinct. He is signally endowed with the judicial faculty, which is a special gift apart from the lawyer's gift. McKee is a great lawyer merely.

These qualities of intellect and temperament would have little weight with us

Simpson vs. Simpson.—Continued.

Matlock vs. Darby.—Case decided in favor of defendant.

Pennington vs. Monroe.—Judgement for plaintiff for possession of property.

Inman vs. Howard.—Tried and continued for argument.

Timely Warning.—The party who took my ranch without leave, on the night of the 23d ult., a load containing two cords of wood, more or less, is hereby notified that if he wishes to avoid exposure he must either replace the wood taken or leave the market price in coin for the same so that it will reach me within ten days.

Oct. 3d, 1873. H. W. DIEHL.

Flowers.—We are indebted to Mrs. H. Stegall for a bouquet of beautiful fragrant flowers from her garden on Third Street, which we believe is the most highly cultivated in town. This shows how we may beautify our homes, now that we have plenty of autumn, and we hope many others will follow Mrs. Stegall's example. These flowers are as beautiful and fragrant as in springtime.

New Lumber Firm.—Mr. S. A. Davis has purchased an interest with Mr. L. B. Ruggles in his lumber yard. The firm will be known as Ruggles & Davis. They will keep a large supply of all kinds of lumber and building materials on hand and will endeavor to do business in a manner satisfactory to their patrons.

Hotel Change.—Mr. O. B. Westcott has retired from the Westcott Hotel and Messrs. Furness & Benis have taken possession. Mr. Furness is well known as a popular landlord and we have no doubt that the Exchange will maintain its good reputation under the management of the new proprietors.

Exhibition.—Mr. J. M. Garotte will afford our citizens an opportunity again, on Saturday, of witnessing the performance of his handsome and well trained dogs. They are perfect beauties. Don't fail to see them. Admission fifty cents, children half price.

Another Grange.—Wm. M. Jackson, District Deputy for Yolo County, instituted Cache Creek Grange of Patrons of Husbandry at Cottonwood on the 24th ult. There were thirty members—D. B. Hurlbut, Master; L. D. Stephens, Secretary.

Skates and "Rough" for Sale.—Mr. H. Stegall offers for sale forty-two pairs of the celebrated Plympton parlor skates, together with the patent right for Yolo County. A splendid chance for an enterprising man to make money.

Dancing School.—Messrs. Church & Jones, of Sacramento, take pleasure in announcing to the ladies and gentlemen of Woodland and vicinity that they will resume their dancing classes in Central Hall on Monday, October 6th.

Episcopal.—Rev. Wm. H. Hill will hold Episcopal service at Temple Hall on Sunday, October 12th, at 11 A. M. and 3 P. M. Instead of Sunday next as heretofore announced. All are cordially invited to attend.

New Buildings.—Messrs. Burns & Deitz are about to erect three brick buildings on the ground occupied by the eastern portion of the old Woodland House. They intend to begin work immediately.

Horses for Sale.—At the Sale of Mr. Reuben Fitz, a mile and a half southwest of Woodland, on Saturday next, October 4th, will also be sold several fine American Horses, of choice terms.

M. E. Services.—Rev. Mr. Burns, the new Methodist Episcopal Pastor of this charge, will preach at the M. E. Church on Sunday, October 5th, at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M. Seats free and the public invited.

Independent People's Meeting

In accordance with a notice published in the Sacramento Union, a meeting was held at the Court House, on the night of Wednesday, September 24th, the proceedings of which have not heretofore been published.

On motion of R. P. Davidson, Judge James Johnson was elected President of the meeting, and R. P. Davidson was chosen as Secretary.

The Chairman stated that he supposed that under the call the meeting would elect three delegates to the State Convention, to be held on next day.

T. C. Pockman said that he thought it proper that a County Central Committee should be appointed looking to a permanent organization for the future.

Dr. Ray endorsed the views of Postmaster Pockman, and a Resolution embodying his views was adopted.

Mr. Pockman nominated Dr. Ray as a member of the Committee, and he was elected.

Dr. Ray nominated Judge Johnson who was also elected.

Upon motion of Mr. Pockman, C. E. Greene, Godfrey Rodolf, and Stephen J. Howard were elected members of the County Committee. The Chairman suggested the name of Col. J. W. Snowball, of Knights Landing, and upon motion of R. P. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Pockman he was elected.

Subsequently, Judge Johnson, R. P. Davidson and S. G. Harper were elected delegates to the State Convention.

After speeches by Messrs. Pockman, Johnson, Brown and Davidson, the meeting adjourned.

Dancing School.—Wood and Simpson's Band will open a Dancing School at Central Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15th, and continue weekly thereafter. The Popular dancing teacher, A. A. Sanders, of San Francisco, has consented to assume the role of teacher, (and he is not excelled in this place), while the band composed of six pieces will discourse such music as is rarely furnished for such occasions.

Termin' a Lesson.—On the opening night the party will be continued as a soiree, without additional charge.

City Livery Stables.—Messrs. James McHenry and G. M. Epton have leased and stocked the City Livery Stables, which will be seen by their card elsewhere, and are prepared to furnish any kind of turnout that may be desired, hard and take care of teams, etc. They are liberal enough to advertise and we recommend them to the public as entirely reliable gentlemen.

New Fall Goods.—Nickelsburg Bros. have received large supplies of Fall goods already, to which they invite the attention of the public. In dry goods and clothing, particularly, their stock is very full and complete, besides a general line of merchandise such as they usually keep. Give them a call if you want cheap goods.

U. A. O. D.—Members of Dothan Grove No. 18, United Ancient Order of Druids will meet at their Hall on Monday evening, Oct. 6th, at 7 o'clock. Grand Instructor, H. J. Hartnagle, will be present. A full turnout is desired.

By order, WM. SAUNDERS, N. A. JOHN J. MCKENNA, Secy.

Left.—The passengers on the down train from here going south yesterday morning were left at Davisville. They were at the station when the Sacramento down train passed but the latter would not wait for them to get aboard.

Undeveloped Vigor.—The feeble and debilitated usually fancy they are in a more hopeless condition than they really are. The resources of nature are almost exhausted. Even when strength and appetite fail, and the complexion heavy and listless, the complexion pallid, the nerves tremulous, the body attenuated, and the mind depressed, there is generally a latent source of disease. Various modes of treatment are resorted to by physicians in the hope of developing and rendering available this store of sleeping vitality, but the best and surest way is by the use of a reliable means of awakening the dormant energies of the system in a source of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Electricity, shower baths, and other artificial means, may be well enough in their way, but the only reliable way to do so is by the use of the Bitters. All physical debility proceeds either from a weak stomach, or from a weak system, or from a weak mind. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will invariably produce an immediate cure of all such ailments. It is a powerful purgative, and eventually effects a complete cure of the dangerous ailments, and it is a powerful tonic, and eventually effects a complete cure of the dangerous ailments, and it is a powerful tonic, and eventually effects a complete cure of the dangerous ailments.

Religious Services.—CHRISTIAN CHURCH.—Elder J. N. Pendergast, Services at the Chapel every Sunday at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M. Sunday School at 9 A. M. Prayer meeting every Tuesday evening at 7 P. M.

Episcopal.—Rev. Wm. H. Hill will hold Episcopal service at Temple Hall on Sunday, October 12th, at 11 A. M. and 3 P. M. Instead of Sunday next as heretofore announced. All are cordially invited to attend.

New Buildings.—Messrs. Burns & Deitz are about to erect three brick buildings on the ground occupied by the eastern portion of the old Woodland House. They intend to begin work immediately.

Horses for Sale.—At the Sale of Mr. Reuben Fitz, a mile and a half southwest of Woodland, on Saturday next, October 4th, will also be sold several fine American Horses, of choice terms.

M. E. Services.—Rev. Mr. Burns, the new Methodist Episcopal Pastor of this charge, will preach at the M. E. Church on Sunday, October 5th, at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M. Seats free and the public invited.

Another Business House Closing Out

Messrs. Read & Welch, proprietors of the old clothing house in this place, have come to the determination to sell of their entire stock of clothing, furnishing goods, etc., at cost price for cash, to close up the business. Here is a splendid chance to get cheap and good clothing. Parties having open accounts are requested to call and settle immediately. On all bills not settled by the 1st of Sept. will be added 1 1/2 per cent. per month interest.

So long as humanity suffers, so long will remedies be required. Anger, mankind's many sufferings, none are more terrible than rheumatism, neuralgia sciatica, toothache, nervous headache, etc., but these are only a few of the countless ills that attack every part of the human frame. The best remedy is a silver bullet, however, for "Pain-Killer" which is sold by druggists everywhere for twenty-five cents a bottle, will cure the ills already mentioned, and many other maladies and diseases. Try it.

There is no disease that is heir to more suffering than rheumatism. It comes when you least expect it, and generally remains till it gets ready to go away. The most conspicuous ailment for this complaint is "Johnson's Anodyne Liniment."

Two or three doses of "Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders" will cure a horse of any common cough or cold, and the very worst cases may be cured in a week. We know this from experience.

For the very best photographs, go to Bradley & Rulofson's gallery, without stain. Located in the "New" 127 Montgomery St., San Francisco.

MAILED.—At Yountville, Napa County, Sept. 22d, by Elder M. E. Cornell, Mr. Wm. Wesley Smith to Mrs. Annitha C. Kinkie, both of Woodland.

In Capay Valley, Sept. 25th, by Elder J. N. Snowball, of Knights Landing, and Miss Alaminia Alexander.

DEED.—In Woodland, October 1st, Thomas Coppinger, aged 45 years, formerly of New York, New York, papers please copy.

Deceased resided in Woodland, El Dorado County, eighteen or twenty years, and came to Woodland about two months since. The funeral will take place this morning at half past ten o'clock.

THAT FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

PAIN-KILLER.—Has become the public enemy, and is probably has a wider and better reputation than any other proprietary medicine of the present day. At this period there are but few unacquainted with the merits of the PAIN-KILLER; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally; while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. It is sufficient evidence of its virtues as a standard medicine to know that it is now used in all parts of the world, and that its sale is constantly increasing. No curative agent has had such a widespread sale or given such universal satisfaction.

It is eminently a FAMILY MEDICINE; and by being kept ready for immediate resort, will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in doctor's bills.

After over thirty years' trial, it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Expert physicians commend it as a most effective preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, etc., but for Dysentery, or Cholera, or any kind of bowel complaint. It is also a perfect cure for all kinds of rheumatism, or all such complaints, as well as for Dysentery, Liver Complaints, and all other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Croup, Asthma, and Whooping Cough, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine.

We would caution the public against all imitations of our preparation, either in form or style of putting up.

Good Manners a Duty.

Good Manners a Duty.

Men often speak of good manners as an accomplishment. I speak of them as a duty, and a duty that is not optional. Such manners as the usages of society have recognized as being agreeable to men. Such manners as take away rudeness, and result to the brute creation all coarseness. There are a great many who feel that good manners are a refinement. They have a feeling that rude bluntness is a great deal more manly than good manners. It is undoubtedly a great deal more beastly. But when men are crowded in communities, the art of living together is no small art. How to differ without quarrel; how to prompt each other to heroic; how to make every part of a man's life contribute to the welfare and satisfaction of those around him; how to keep down offensive pride; how to banish the raptures of selfishness from the intercourse of men; how to have among men inspired by various and conflicting motives, and yet not have collisions—this is the function of good manners.

It is not effeminate to be refined. And in it and no man should find disability. There may be a time when refinement there may be a class in foreign lands who have no opportunities; there may be those whose toil is so continuous, whose opportunities for knowing what constitutes good manners are so few, whose ignorance is so great, that they are excusable; but that is not the case with any within reach of my voice.

That a man is a mechanic, is no reason why he should not be a gentleman. A tailor for a man is a gentleman on the right, he is not simply a man, but good-mannered man. I have seen men at the avail who were as perfect gentlemen as men of books or men of society. I know no reason why a man who tans hides should not be a gentleman.

In the soil, a man who works in metals and woods, a man who builds, should not be a perfect gentleman. There is nothing in mechanical occupations which is incompatible with the highest courtesy.

Not only in the soil, but in all manners of life, there are no ordinary grounds, but it is sinful. When, therefore, parents and guardians and teachers would inspire the young with a desire for the manner of a good society, it is not to the thought that they are to be made of the same stuff as the rest of the world, which may be the case, but to the reflection. Every man is bound to observe the laws of politeness. It is the expression of good-will and kindness. It promotes both beauty in the man who possesses it, and the happiness of the society in which it is religious duty, and should be part of religious training.

There is a great deal of contempt expressed for what is called etiquette in society. Now and then there are elements of etiquette in the mind of a man, but in the main there is a just reason for all those customs which come under the head of etiquette. There is a reason which has regard to the facility of intercourse. There is a reason which has regard to the convenience of the community. There is a reason in comfort and happiness. And no man can afford to violate these unwritten customs of etiquette who wishes to act as a Christian gentleman.

I may speak, also, of a tendency which is not only of our times, but of all times of civilization. There are various ways in which this want of reverence shows itself. We often hear that there is not the same respect shown for the aged that there used to be. We know that there is not any more respect shown for uneducated men and in authority. This is partly due, I think, to the institutions under which we live. One of the unfortunate effects derived from the early stages of democratic training is the sense of the personal equality of all men. We are taught to stand on as high ground as anybody else.

Under monarchical institutions men are taught to revere the great and glorious government. The feeling of reverence does not prevail to any great extent among us.

Children, nowadays, are brought up to be taught, to be sancy, to be almost without restraint. They are brought up to have very little regard either for their parents or their superiors. And, although there are a great many households where children are brought up in this regard, it seems to me

There has been a decay of this instruction which used to prevail, the tendency of which was to make children modest and respectful. We bring up our children to be bold and smart and impertinent. We have lost the old-fashioned reverence with it respect; this testimony of veneration to the aged; this yielding oneself in a thousand little society rites for the sake of making others happy—oh, what brightness it gives to life! What beauty, what adornment it gives to Christian character!

There are many other points that I might speak of. The effect of punctuality and order; the relations which men maintain toward each other's convenience and necessities—these and a hundred other branches of this subject I might discourse upon, but I will not say many other points that I might speak of. I have given such examples as I have merely as specimens, for the purpose of calling your attention to the minuteness and carefulness with which the Scripture inculcates these things. "It enjoins not merely the right spirit, but the right spirit manifested in the most beautiful way."—Booker

The following important suggestions of fathers are given by the Life-saving Society of New York:

"Avoid entering the water within two hours after a meal, or when exhausted from any cause, or when the body is cooling after perspiration."—Booker

"Stay in the water usually not more than twenty minutes."

"Leave the water always with promptness, and dress at once. Do it immediately, even suffering from chilliness, especially if there be numbness of hands and feet."

"Do not stop for bathing for a strong person is before breakfast."

"For the young, or weakly the best time is two or three hours after breakfast."

"Bathing should be entirely avoided by those in whom it habitually causes faintness, giddiness, or disagreeable palpitation of the heart."

"Exposure of the head to the sun during bathing is attended with special danger of sun-stroke."

If you would not have affliction visit from vice, listen at once to what it teaches.
